A passion for the outdoors drives Principal Landscapes to create innovative, customised designs for any space and lifestyle needs.

Natural Bluestone and exposed aggregate paving combine well together.

A Silvertop Ash daybed provides the perfect spot for poolside relaxation.

Principal Landscapes is an experienced and dynamic company that prides itself on creating functional and timeless spaces that reflect each individual client's requirements.

Company director, Cullen, personally designs and oversees every project, placing significant importance on communicating with the client throughout every stage of the process.

The experienced in-house construction team has the knowledge and skills to construct each design to a level that exceeds client expectations, while showcasing interesting and sustainable materials that suit the clients' brief and budget. The company's scope of works has grown to encompass pool design and construction as well as roof structures and outdoor kitchens.

PERTH

Situated on Perth's idyllic coast, this landscape represents the best of outdoor summer living. To the rear of the property, a 6x3m heated concrete pool was installed in Pacific Blue, and raised planter boxes built between the pool shell and the boundary to maximise space. A screen wall hides pool equipment.

Bluestone large-format paving wraps around the pool. A minimalist yet striking Bluestone water feature takes centre stage alongside a timber daybed, while a custom-made steel pool fence panel with LED lighting adds an interesting element at night.

A waterwise irrigation system provides for the foliage—contrasting plants while extensive lighting creates a special effect in the evenings.

The highly functional alfresco outdoor kitchen features a barbecue and rangehood, dishwasher, sink, bar fridge, granite benchtop and ample storage space, while the wood-fired pizza oven provides an attractive backdrop with its staggered Silvertop Ash fascia boards.

Adding interest to the front entry of the home, a water-feature pond was incorporated to house fish and plant life.

Clean, modern lines and contrasting natural materials were used throughout to ensure a seamless connection between the separate areas.

PERTH

With a generous north-facing backyard, Principal Landscapes created a contemporary outdoor space to reflect the recently built home.

Designed as a space for a young family to relax in, a concrete pool was installed to one side of the yard.

A raised composite timber deck in silver/grey sits at one end, perfectly complementing the colour of the imported Italian marble paving that surrounds the pool. The paving is sandblasted to provide suitable grip for around the pool, while the same stone with a polished finish was used to clad a feature raised planter box alongside the deck. It was also used for the water-feature wall with a split-face finish that provides a beautiful shadow effect at night.

The contrasting jarrah screen with laser-cut wall art panels provides an attractive backdrop to the deck area.

Masonry walls create raised gardens that are planted with Pittosporum Screenmaster and Magnolia Little Gem to help screen the property's high fences. Rhoec and Acacia Limelight were also selected for their bright foliage colour that contrasts the jarrah screen and stone planter box.

The finishing touches to this family-friendly retreat include uplighting, a glass pool fence and a resort-style outdoor shower.

The jarrah screen with stainless steel art provides an interesting backdrop to the decked area.
